

Assertive Community Treatment

ACT

Multi-disciplinary continuous treatment teams provide individualized services, skills training and support in community settings for people with serious mental illness. Clinical trials have shown reductions in hospital use and symptoms, and improved satisfaction with services. National performance monitoring data have confirmed these effects as well as improvements in alliance, functioning and quality of life with maintenance of program fidelity over seven years. Successful teams have served as mentor-monitors for new programs.